JFK Scores House Victory With Passage of Trade Bill

Concern Rises As Drought Continues

Begins Mapping Strategy For Senate Battle

Measure Passed by 298-125 Margin In Bipartisan Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his legislative leaders have scored a House victory with passage of the trade expansion bill. Now they're mapping Senate strategy to hold the ground gained.

The far-reaching bill, dynamo of Kennedy's drive to keep the dollar strong and weld a close economic partnership with Western Europe, was passed late Thursday by the House 298 to 125.

The hard-pressed Democratic leaders had won a preliminary victory on a 253-171 tally rejecting a Republican-offered substitute which had been calculated to have maximum appeal.

There was a substantial bipartisan element in both votes, since trade legislation divides Congress on economic as well as party lines.

If the Senate agrees to it, the bill will replace the present trade law, expiring Saturday midnight.

And, for the first time in the 28-year history of reciprocal trade legislation, there would be provision for keeping tariff cuts in effect even when individual businesses and their employees are hurt by imports. Loans, tax concessions and technical aid would be available to the firms hurt; adjustment payments during re-training to the workers.

The President would have authority to cut tariffs as much as 50 per cent. In dealings with the European Common Market on goods where the market countries and the United States provide the bulk of world exports, the duties could be cut to zero. They could be eliminated also in other special cases, such as non-competitive tropical products.

Kennedy, who had put the bill at the top of his legislative priority list, expressed gratification at the House action. He said it "reflects the national character of his legislation as well as its importance."

The bill is open to amendment in the Senate and several senators are expected to offer provisions to lessen injury to domestic industries. Observers predicted, however, that the bill will emerge much to the President's liking.

It stops first at the Senate Finance Committee. One member,

Clean Up of Fiscal Year-End Items Is Aim of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress tries to clean up a number of fiscal year-end items today after voting to raise the national debt ceiling and providing funds to run the government next month.

Leaders said they hoped all necessary business for fiscal 1962, which ends Saturday at midnight, could be finished by late today. But a Saturday session may be needed, they said.

The jam occurs each June but this year's has involved more legislation than usual.

Two of the major items were cleared for President Kennedy Thursday.

The Senate sent to him a bill raising the debt limit to a record high of $308 billion for most of fiscal 1963 after beating back Republican efforts to trim it to $306 billion.

Both branches rushed through an emergency resolution permitting all government agencies to continue spending generally at current rates through July. This was necessary because not a single regular money bill for the new year has been passed by both branches and cleared through conference.

This almost unprecedented situation has resulted from a deadlock on protocol between the two appropriations committees — such things as whether a senator or House member shall preside at conferences.

Also sent to the President was a bill extending for another year the suspension of duties on scrap metal imports.

The President, meanwhile, signed into law a bill passed Wednesday by Congress to extend a series of Korean War taxes but to eliminate taxes on train and bus tickets and slice those on air fares to 5 per cent. The taxes which continue and bring in about $4.2 billion a year would have expired at the end of the fiscal year had legislation not been completed.

The conferees on the bill to extend the Export Control Act will have another go at an agreement during the day following a 44-33 Senate rejection of their handiwork Thursday night.

Thursday the conferees dropped all Senate and House amendments on the legislation and decided on a simple one-year extension. But some senators complained loudly at elimination of provisions they had sponsored aimed at tightening the law.

The act provides authority to regulate shipments to unfriendly nations.

Conferees on the bitterly controversial Sugar Act held their first session Thursday night and reached no agreements of any kind.

The Senate has before it another House-passed bill with some June 30 deadlines, a Public Welfare Act revision measure, but Senate lead-

Two Injured In Road Mishaps

Winona Youth In Serious Condition

Jerry Schaffer, 18, of Winona, a varsity basketball star at United High School for the past two seasons, is in serious condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital with multiple lacerations and head injuries received when his car went out of control on a curve on Rt. 9 and crashed into a tree about two miles south of Salem at 12:12 this morning.

John Daniels, 41, of 165 S. Madison Ave., was admitted to Salem City Hospital for treatment of a back sprain and lacerations behind the left ear suffered in an accident on Rt. 62, a mile north of Salem, at about 8 a.m. today.

Schaffer was alone in the car which crashed into a tree along Rt. 9 shortly after midnight. The Highway Patrol said the victim was driving south at an excessive rate of speed when his car went left of center on a curve.

Schaffer, who was graduated earlier this month from United High School, was brought to Salem City Hospital before being transferred to South Side. His injuries included a fracture of the

Prosecutor to Seek Closing Of Vets Club

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw filed a petition Thursday afternoon in common pleas court at Lisbon, seeking to have the Veterans Social Club in East Liverpool designated as a "common public nuisance" and closed for a year.

The prosecutor's petition is scheduled tentatively for a hearing July 20 before Judge Joel H. Sharp.

The prosecutor's action is the outgrowth of a letter sent him in mid-June by East Liverpool Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after he fined a waitress $50 and costs for sales to non-members.

Citing a list of stabbings, shootings and other incidents inside the club or in the immediate vicinity within the last few years, Judge Chertoff asked the prosecutor to take the common pleas court action. At the same time, he announced he would seek to have the State Liquor Control Board revoke the club's permit.

SOBLEN AFTER ARREST IN TEL AVIV — Dr. Robert A. Soblen, convicted spy for Russia, who fled from the United States, covers his face in police van after his arrest in Tel Aviv, Israel, Thursday. Soblen fled from New York before he was slated to surrender to begin serving a life sentence.

Israel Pondering Return of Soblen

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Fugitive Soviet spy Dr. Robert A. Soblen was under medical supervision in a prison hospital today while Israeli authorities studied a U.S. request for his return to New York to begin serving a life term.

The ailing, 62-year-old Soblen, seized here less than 60 hours after he jumped $100,000 bail in New York, was taken to the hospital in Ramleh Prison when he complained he did not feel well.

A doctor testified at his trial last June that Soblen was incurably ill with leukemia — cancer of the blood — and then had 12 months to live.

A spokesman for Israel's justice ministry indicated his government would be sympathetic toward Washington's demand for Soblen's return. He said Israel does not want to become a refuge for persons convicted abroad.

The United States and Israel do not have an extradition treaty, but informants here said Israel could hand Soblen over anyhow. They reasoned that Soblen was convicted of a political crime, rather than a common criminal offense, and that such crimes as espionage are not within normal extradition treaty terms.

Soblen, former supervising psychiatrist at Rockland State Hospital in Orangeburg, N.Y., had been scheduled to show up in New York federal court Thursday to begin the life sentence for 20 years of spying. The U.S. Supreme Court refused last Monday to review the case, and Soblen then fled the country.

Mexicans Crowd Streets Awaiting Kennedy's Arrival

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico City took on a holiday mood today to greet President Kennedy at the start of a three-day visit aimed at shoring up the good neighbor policy.

Hundreds of thousands of Mexicans massed to pay tribute to the chief executive in the midst of the burgeoning cold war over Latin America.

Officials estimated more than a million spectators in this city of five million were trudging to points of vantage along the parade route from the airport to President Adolfo Lopez Mateos' official residence.

Portraits of Presidents Kennedy and Lopez Mateos, framed in gold and ready to be lighted at night, decorated the end of the route.

Accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, the chief executive took off at 8:48 a.m. from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., after a helicopter flight from the White House.

The flight takes about four hours.

Kennedy went to the airfield direct from a White House conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, back only Thursday night from a fence-building tour of Europe.

The President and Rusk were still in animated conversation as they left the White House. Rusk made the helicopter flight to the airport to see the Kennedys off, but did not fly south.

Mexicans planned a gigantic welcome. Schools were closing, government employees were being released and union members were instructed to turn out for the arrival at 11 a.m. Mexican time (1 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time.)

Officials at Mexico City predicted one million persons would line the roads and pack the downtown streets and squares to cheer the motorcade bearing the Kennedys and Mexican President and Mrs. Adolfo Lopez Mateos. The officials also confidently forecast anti-U.S. elements would cause no trouble.

Some protests by placard were considered inevitable, but signs of friendship prevailed throughout the city in streamers and posters on building fronts.

President and Mrs. Lopez Mateos headed the welcoming party for a salute at the airport preceding the drive through the city to Los Pinos, official residence of the Mexican leader.

To get the visit off to a rousing start, 55 minutes were allowed for the procession along the route of less than 15 miles. That offered time for as many home folk as possible to glimpse the visiting chief executive and his wife.

They will appear and speak Saturday at a housing project south of the city and later mingle with the U.S. colony at an advanced Fourth of July celebration in a big park north of the city. Before leaving on Sunday the first

Freeman To Be Cross Examined

Blamed Estes Case On Ike's Regime

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman faces vigorous cross examination today in Senate hearings on the Billie Sol Estes scandals.

Freeman had fairly smooth sailing Thursday as he read with few interruptions a 50-page statement declaring he had cleaned up fast what mess he said he found within the department. He blamed the Eisenhower administration for much of it.

Members of the Senate Investigations subcommittee said the situation would be different today, with Freeman subject to crossfire quizzing on the roles played by department officials — Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy among them — in ruling on Estes' big money manipulations under farm aid programs.

The subcommittee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is investigating how Estes, a Pecos, Tex., promoter, amassed a multimillion dollar fortune through cotton acreage allotment and grain storage deals, and how the Estes financial empire col-

Marshal Shot To Death by Auto Thief

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — The town marshal of nearby West Liberty died in a shooting spree with a car thief early today. Sheriff's deputies identified the marshal as Sherman Ricketts, in his 50s.

The thief, who was identified as Earl R. Jacobs, was wounded and was undergoing surgery in Mary Rutan Hospital here.

Sheriff's deputies said Ricketts came upon the thief as he was switching license plates on a car believed stolen from Michigan. The thief grabbed a gun from the seat of the car and fired at Ricketts.

The marshal fired back, and in the exchange of shots, Ricketts was struck fatally and the thief was wounded, deputies said.

June Rainfall Totals Only Half of Normal

Farms Agent Says Moisture Supply At Critical Stage

By GLENN SCHOTTEN

The severe drought which has gripped the Salem area for the past month is causing mounting concern among city residents and farm dwellers alike.

Brown lawns and pastures, wilting gardens, some stunted crops and the prospect of drying wells portend numerous individual crises unless rains soon afford relief from the prolonged arid spell.

Precipitation for June, weather observer Edwin Copeland of Millport says, is only about half of normal, with 1.66 inches falling so far this month. Since January 14.55 inches of precipitation has been recorded, far less than the normal amount.

April was the poorest, moisture-wise of the last six months, with only 1.21 inches falling. June is the next poorest. Other amounts are 2.35 inches in May, 3.46 in January, 3.18 in February, and 2.69 in March.

"Really Hurting Now"

Both Floyd Lower, Columbiana County agricultural extension agent, and William Phillips, Mahoning county agent, proclaim, "We're really hurting now." Phillips believes the moisture supply has reached the critical stage where continued drought or a benevolent rainfall can make all the difference in crops, gardens and home surroundings.

There have been drier years in this area, such as the great dry spell of 1934, but it has been a long time since such a severe drought arrived so early in the year.

City residents show consternation over their browning lawns, shrubs and trees as the water bill rises wherever artificial watering is done. In rural areas dairymen watch as their pastures and milk supply dry up and they dish into their baled hay or silo supply to bolster the dry grass from the dwindling fields.

Expected To Bounce Back

The browning lawns are expected to bounce back when the drought when rain does fall. In a few cases the grass plants have died, but in the majority of instances they are in a semi-dormant stage with the crown waiting for rain to restore vigor.

Britain Refuses U.N. Request on S. Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly has asked that Britain call a conference soon to draft a new constitution for Southern Rhodesia giving a vote to every man in that British African territory whether he is black or white.

The resolution faces an uncertain future. Britain's chief delegate to the U.N. said it was unacceptable and impracticable. An African political leader from the territory warned that if Britain ignored the assembly's advice, bloody revolution might follow.

The resolution was sponsored by 38 African and Asian countries and toughened by a Bulgarian amendment. The assembly adopted it late Thursday in the last act of its 16th annual session, the longest ever, which started Sept. 18.

The vote was 73-1 with 27 abstentions. Only South Africa voted against the resolution. The Communist countries, almost all Africa and Asia and more than half of Latin America voted for it. The rest of Latin America, the United States, non-Communist Europe, the white countries of the Commonwealth and a few Asians abstained.

British delegate Sir Patrick

Dean boycotted the voting to underline his "nonparticipation."

The resolution said "the vast majority of the people of Southern Rhodesia," where Africans outnumber Europeans more than 10-1, had rejected the proposed new constitution setting up a voters' registration system expected to produce a legislature

He was not jailed, as reported in the original story. The charge was filed by Franklin Township Constable Forrest Young.

Office Drama

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Every day begins a fresh drama in the average business office.

Did you ever watch how people come to work in the morning? Every one arrives in a different manner, and the way he does is a tipoff to his personality.

If you get in early yourself someday, you might note these familiar characters in your own office:

Happy Harry—He read somewhere that the man who wins is the man who grins. His expression is permanently creased like a laughing mask. If anybody can't get that's Harry. He can even smile on Mondays.

The Clod—"Back to the old salt mine," he mumbles, stumbles over to his desk, buries his head in a pile of papers and never says another word to anyone all the rest of the day.

Robert Red-Eye is just one long hangover to this middle-aged office playboy. As he opens the door, he thrusts out a foot cautiously to feel if the floor is still there. His nerves are so jangled that when the phone rings he leaps three feet in the air, and comes down quivering.

Genial George—He takes it as a personal crusade to pep up office morale. Invariably he slaps the first person he sees on the back, and asks, "Did you hear the one about?" Then he tells you the same joke you told him the day before.

Symptomatic Sid—"Didn't get a wink of sleep again last night," grumbles the office hypochondriac. Then for an hour and a half he keeps anyone else from working by giving a lengthy catalog of his aches and pains. He doesn't realize what his real ailment is that he's a living pain in the neck.

Haunted Hubert—"Did the boss ask for me?" he asks in fright as he enters. Existence is a continual crisis for Hubert. This is because he is always desperately doing today the job he should have done the day before yesterday. All his life he has been two days behind.

time and never has been able to catch up.

Delbert the Dove—The newlywed can't wait even to take off his coat before calling home to be sure that no disaster has befallen the bride he left just 25 minutes ago. His love chirps over the phone make all the older married men slightly ill. Delbert has been married only three weeks but already he has dishpan hands.

Harold Highbrow—the intellectual office boy enters with an air of utter disdain and says nothing to anybody because he thinks they are all a bunch of lowbrow creeps. When someone shouts "Boy!" Harold merely sniffs and continues reading "The Theory of the Leisure Class."

The Man Himself—The boss bustles in importantly, then fixes everyone in the room with a sweeping, imperial glare. Satisfied that the entire staff is thoroughly cowed, he closes the door to his office, leans back in his swivel chair, puts his feet on the desk and takes a nice long refreshing nap.

The Quemoy-Matsu Affair

It is reassuring that President Kennedy has announced his administration will follow former President Eisenhower's policy that Quemoy and Matsu islands will be defended if an attack against them appears to be connected with an attack on Formosa.

But his insistence that he personally never had deviated from support of that policy, evidenced by his quotation from a 1960 campaign statement, bothered us. We had the distinct impression, as obviously many other people did, that Mr. Kennedy had stirred up a highly publicized debate on the issue in 1960 by saying he did not believe the two islands were worth defending.

DIGGING through our files of recent history, we discovered both we and the President are right. He did indeed declare on Oct. 16, 1960, that he favored the Eisenhower administration's policy, but the situation developed pretty much the way we remembered.

In his second television debate Oct. 7 with then Vice President Nixon, Mr. Kennedy said he believed strongly in the defense of Formosa but "if you're going to get into war for the defense of Formosa, it ought to be on a clearly defined line."

"I do not believe that that line in case of war should be drawn on those islands," he continued. "I think it's unwise to take the chance of being dragged into a war which may lead to a world war over two islands which are not strategically defensible . . . or essential to the defense of Formosa."

That declaration by the Democratic candidate before a nationwide television audience kicked off a heated discussion which occupied the headlines for more than a week.

Then on Oct. 16, during a television interview, Mr. Kennedy suggested the Quemoy-Matsu exchange be dropped to keep the Chinese Reds from "thinking we are divided. But he insisted he was willing to take this position because Mr. Nixon had joined him in backing the incumbent administration's position.

THERE WAS considerable comment at the time about which candidate had changed his position during the debate, and the impression persisting among many people even into 1962 that Mr. Kennedy opposed defending Quemoy and Matsu indicates few were misled by the Democratic candidate's rather underhanded way of sliding himself off on an embarrassing hook.

The whole affair merely reaffirms a truism all politicians and all citizens recognize: It is dangerous and irresponsible to seek political advantage during a campaign by raising an issue which does not and should not exist.

Exercise For Fatheads?

What this country needs is a 15-minute-a-day mental fitness program!

President Kennedy's special consultant on physical fitness, Charles B. (Bud) Wilkinson, Oklahoma University athletic director, recently said even 15 minutes of physical exercise a day could help amazingly.

Paradoxical as it seems, the human brain in only a fraction the size of the rest of the body but for fullest development requires exercise in reverse ratio to its size.

Many persons spend 15 hours not minutes but hours a day working their brains at top speed and the results are considerably less than amazing.

VERY OFTEN it seems that the harder one works his brain the bigger fathead he becomes. The physical fitness boys know how to take fat off the body but how to take fat off the head remains a hotly debated question in the highest academic and scientific circles.

Mr. Wilkinson's advice on physical exercise was aimed specifically at American diplomats going abroad (overseas, that is) so they would present a trimmer image of the United States.

Diplomats have taken such a beating from smart alecks down through history that it probably would not be fair to inquire as to what is being done to pare excess baggage from their heads. Still, there persists a nagging curiosity as to whether this emphasis on exercise is starting at the wrong end.

If any diplomat of the United States in a foreign country should suspect that his native hosts might be looking askance at either his physical or mental image, he could honestly explain, "You should see some of the people I left at home."

AT THE MOMENT it appears doubtful if there ever will be a program for the development of brains as simple as a couple of dozen knee bends or running up and down the stairs for 15 minutes a day. And if it comes to that, conformity in mental development could be a sad thing. Like that old saying, "I'm glad everybody isn't in love with my wife."

Thus it is certain that for some time to come there will be those who study Shakespeare to exercise their heads and there will be those who study tables of atomic weights. And of course there will be some who study both.

And to anyone who doesn't care for either Shakespeare or tables of atomic weights, those who do like them will always be fatheads and vice versa.

Home-Grown Executive Orders

Harried housewives and husbands must have gotten a chuckle out of President Kennedy's new executive order on how a government agency should prepare a request for him to issue an executive order.

The family grocery list and kitchen bulletin board were never like that.

Of course the President's executive orders should have all the commas in the right places because they are likely to be debated hotly in Congress and sometimes even in courts of law.

However, the same sort of debates often take place in the average family and can be even hotter than those in the top government echelons.

Take for instance a parent's executive order posted on the kitchen bulletin board instructing a youngster to mow the lawn or do the dishes.

Several hours after the job should have been done an oral tracer goes out to the youngster to find out why the order was ignored. Even without knowing about President Kennedy's detailed requirements for executive orders, the youngster replies, "What lawn? You didn't say you meant our lawn," or, "What dishes?"

This is where parents may eventually have to adopt some of the President's care in preparing orders. All the parent would have to do would be to get a copy of the Government Printing Office Manual so all the words in the order were spelled correctly, a list of the Board of Geographic Names to pinpoint the location of said lawn or dishes, typewrite the order on 8-by-13-inch paper with the proper margins, and then provide seven copies and a letter of explanation as to the "nature, purpose, background and effect" of mowing the lawn or doing the dishes.

This must be one of the reasons housewives are always harried.

Student Exchange

By Tony Ferrer

The number of Soviet students studying in American colleges this academic year was more than twice as large as in 1960-61 — 37 against 16 — but exchange students from Soviet satellite countries have been cut down as much as 17 per cent. Only Yugoslavia — which is not classified as a Soviet satellite — showed an increase from 119 last year to 135 students in the U.S. now.

The Institute of International Education revealed in its annual census of foreign exchange, "Open Doors," that there were no students now studying in the United States from Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and Latvia, each of whom had a few here last year. Polish students here fell from 82 to 70 this year, while Hungarians — mostly refugees — dropped from 48 to 32.

There were also no students from East Germany (but 864 from West Germany) an none from Red China although the Republic of China has sent 4,735 students here this year. Cuba has exported 1,094 students to these shores, of which 328 were considered refugees from the Castro government.

Overall, 72,113 foreign persons came to this country in 1961-1962 for study, training or teaching, an increase of more than 8 per cent over last year and an all-time high. An unprecedented number of American citizens were studying at 590 universities abroad, 22,263 — a 27 per cent increase in a year.

The greatest proportionate increase was in African students, who stood at 3,930, jumping 39 per cent in a year. Over the last 10 years, the IE said the number of African students coming here has leaped 366 per cent from a 1951-1952 figure of 1,072.

However, only 49 Americans were studying in Africa this year. In the Soviet Union there are 37 Americans, in Poland, 23, in Romania 2, and in Yugoslavia, 4.

The institute also reported a group of 26 students (without breakdown) who were in the U.S. from Albania, Andorra, Estonia, Lithuania, Luxembourg, and Romania.

Altogether, 58,086 foreign students from 149 countries studied in 1,789 American colleges and universities, plus 5,530 foreign professors, instructors, lecturers and research scholars (a 52 per cent increase in a year), from 90 countries, and 8,497 foreign physicians from 94 countries training as residents and interns.

The doctors dropped off from 9,935 last year, probably because of efforts of the American Medical Association to tighten standards for foreign doctors, the institute said.

Canada sent more students here than any other country, 6,571, followed by India with 5,621. Hong Kong sent 1,597 and Israel 1,013.

California received the most foreign students — 8,172 — followed by New York State with 6,404. As a single institution, the University of California was winner in foreign students with 2,534, followed by the University of Michigan with 1,646. New York University was third with 1,335.

Fifty-one per cent of all the foreign students were undergraduate. The most popular fields of study were engineering (22 per cent), the humanities (19 per cent) and the natural and physical sciences (16 per cent.)

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

A small group of amazed labor leaders have been meeting secretly at New York. They have been comparing notes, experiences at recent union gatherings in some areas, and their reaction to a sudden upcropping of old-fashioned noisy disruption.

Now the labor chiefs are alarmed as well as amazed. They have concluded that as long ago as early '61 a signal from some central headquarters reactivated "sleeping" Communist-line cadres inside unions concentrated in many big cities.

In this area the concentration is now especially felt in unions which deal with corporations manufacturing the most sensitive electronic defense installation used the world over.

One union official told his colleagues of well-disciplined, well-financed, well-organized cadres now running candidates for office. These cadres tactics are of the activist days of the '30s and '40s.

UNION MEETINGS now are disrupted by cadres shouting "Trotskyite" and "capitalist collaborators" at anti-Communist officials. In some unions the pro-Communist leaders are the same who took the Fifth Amendment before the House UnAmerican Activities Committee and then pledged they had broken with the apparatus. Now they emerge in unified fashion.

There are reports of cadre activity not only in the electrical field but in the areas of transport, communications, metal mining, and on some waterfronts.

"For a while," one prominent labor chief told this column, "we thought this was just a matter of ambition on the part of the ultra-left."

"Then we noticed that they had set up their caucuses. These are directed by a central organization. Big money is being spent."

"Obviously there has been a central order for reactivation. Not only inside our unions but among the ultras outside."

"We note aggressive, raiding drives on hundreds of plants across the country, virtually all of which already are unionized."

"What disturbs us now is that our people aren't used to battling the Communist-line cadres. It's been a long time. There is no awareness. There is no sophistication on the issue because the extreme left has been dormant for so long."

MY FRIEND is right. There is mighty little sharpness and basic understanding of the nature of the ultra. Just look at the case of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union. Certainly the work of its members in the copper, uranium, nickel mines and refining and smelter plants of the United States is national being.

And on May 4, the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) ruled that the Mine, Mill union was:

"Substantially directed, dominated or controlled by individuals who are, or have been, actively engaged in giving support to the Communist party of the United States."

The SACB sits as a court. It is asked to make its ruling by the attorney general.

Certainly Robert Kennedy is pro labor. He would not take out after a union on this issue unless he believed he had the evidence. And the board ruled that the evidence showed domination by Communists. Therefore, under the law, the union will be denied the right to use the National Labor Relations Board's facilities — unless it wins its appeals in the courts.

During these proceedings, word of support for this union came from Communist China.

THE WORDS of encouragement to the Mine, Mill union came from Chao Kuo-chiang, chairman of the Heavy Industrial Workers Trade Union of China.

Chao was speaking at a rally sponsored by the All-China Federation of Trade Unions in Peiping "in support of the struggle of the U. S. Communist party against persecution."

"The U. S. authorities' attempt," said Chao, "to persecute this union, one of the oldest progressive trade unions, is a signal of U. S. government's scheme to persecute trade union organization and all the progressive forces under the McCarran Act at a time when it is persecuting the U. S. Communist party."

Yet when the Mine, Mill union held its 57th Convention the other month up in Toronto's King Edward Hotel, it received warm greetings. It was hailed for its fight against the Justice Department's earlier moves against its officers.

And those greetings, mind you, were from leaders of 3½ million American unionists in the United States. Some of those labor men who sent greetings are internationally prominent. It's time, isn't it, that all labor leaders get together before they find themselves back in the siege which hit them in the late '30s and early '40s. This sounds the alarm, I hope.

The Douglas Dictum

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Justice Takes Issue With President Kennedy

Whether or not the latest Supreme Court decision on the subject of an official prayer in the public schools is soundly based, it has brought sharply to the foreground a discussion of the whole subject of government financing, directly or indirectly, of institution or activity which relates even remotely to religion.

The main ruling of the court was on a narrow question — that is, whether a state can direct that a particular prayer be recited, even though the prayer is itself general and denominationally neutral. The issue was whether the state has a right to dictate to the schools any form of prayer. If it does have such discretion, then one day the prayer might be neutral, and another day some other prayer with denominational overtones might be ordered by the state board of education.

Although the Supreme Court decided only that no state could direct any official prayer, there was a concurring opinion by Justice Douglas which is bound to attract nationwide attention. What Mr. Douglas said is known as "dictum" and has no bearing on the ruling itself, even though he concurred in the result.

The big question is whether Mr. Douglas's views will be shared by other members of the court and whether a majority ever will join with him in putting into a ruling the point of view which he has just expressed.

"It is customary," wrote Justice Douglas, "in deciding a constitutional question to treat it in its narrowest form. Yet at times the setting of the questions gives it a form and content which no abstract treatment could do. The point for decision is whether the government can constitutionally finance a religious exercise."

"Our system at the federal and state levels is presently honeycombed with such financing. Nevertheless, I think it is an unconstitutional undertaking whatever form it takes."

STANDING by itself, this is a very broad statement, but it is even more significant because Justice Douglas attached a footnote in which he presented an extract from a book by David Fellman entitled "The Limits of Freedom."

This particular quotation listed the many aids to religion at all levels of government, such as provision for chaplains of both houses of Congress and in the armed services, compulsory chapel at the armed service academies, and religious services in federal hospitals and prisons. It also pointed out that the president issues religious proclamations, that the Bible is used for the administration of oaths, and that federal funds were available to parochial schools during the depression in the 1930s.

It then adds: "Veterans receiving money under the 'GI' bill of 1944 could attend denominational schools, to which payments were made directly by the government."

"During World War II, federal money was contributed to denominational schools for the training of nurses. The benefits of the National School Lunch Act are available to students in private as well as public schools. The Hospital Survey and Construction Act of 1946 specifically made money available to non-public hospitals. . . .

"This list of federal 'aids' could easily be expanded, and of course there is a long list in each state."

This is the first time that any justice of the Supreme Court has even hinted that all forms of federal financing are unconstitutional if they go to religious institutions directly or indirectly. Such a sweeping disapproval of federal aid has never been espoused by any prominent member of Congress.

Justice Douglas even would reverse the famous case of "Everson vs. Board of Education," in which he voted with the majority in 1947. It upheld the use of taxpayers' money to pay "the bus fares of parochial school pupils as a part of a general program" under which the fares of pupils attending public and other schools were also paid. He says:

"The Everson case seems in retrospect to be out of line with the First Amendment. Its result is appealing, as it allows aid to be given to needy children. Yet by the same token, public funds could be used to satisfy other needs of children in parochial schools — lunches, books, and tuition being obvious examples."

Justice Douglas, in effect, is taking issue with President Kennedy, who, while contending that "across the board" aid to all church-related educational institutions would be unconstitutional, holds that there is no such bar to aid being given to only the college level where mathematics and other scientific subjects are taught.

Mr. Douglas would sweep out entirely all forms of governmental aid to church-related institutions, including tuition grants to war veterans.

The factor of discrimination as between citizens, of course, comes into the controversy. Persons of a particular religious faith who offer their lives in sacrifice during war do not like to be told that, when they come back from a war, they cannot be recompensed, for instance, by tuition payments which would help them get the education they were denied on account of the government's summons to military service. The subject will be debated for a long, long time to come.

Concerning Trading Stamps

The adoption of trading stamp plans by several of our local merchants has created a stir of elation in some quarters and the sound of wounded feelings in others.

I am not a proponent of trading stamp plans nor will I go out of my way to obtain them. However, I do contribute a portion of my income to the support of the plans. When a merchant has provided good service and a high quality of merchandise at a fair price for a number of years, I do not intend to desert him solely because he joined a stamp plan.

Trading stamps are just one of the many ways of attracting trade to one's store. Advertising, printed and verbal, "Bargain Days," "End of Month Sales," "Merchandise Displays," "Loss Leaders," etc. Ad nauseum, all serve the same end—to attract trade.

All are competitive, all are representative of free enterprise, all will be paid for by someone. Occasionally, the gross sales increase will be sufficiently large to absorb the cost. More often, the consumer pays the cost through increased prices.

As a consumer and a patron of several local merchants who have recently adopted trading stamps I can say I am sorry that the stamps are in Salem. I dislike the inevitable price increase to help pay for the office help at the stamp company.

However, as a consumer, I resent the statement made by some to the effect that persons who deal with merchants having stamps are gullible suckers.

No, I will continue to support those who have been fair with me and have made an honest effort to serve my needs. Even "free" hamburgers and grilled steaks cost somebody something.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Don't let anyone tell you that times have not changed.

My mother taught me to come home at meal time when I was visiting friends. Not so with the children in this neighborhood. They hang around the kitchen and say "Yum yum" and ask for a taste of everything.

One little fellow said to me, "Gee, I wish I lived in this house. My mother is a lousy cook and everything you make is wonderful."

I don't mind having a few youngsters once or twice a week but it's getting so that our own family never sits down to supper alone any more. What can I do without sounding like a meanie? —SURROUNDED.

Dear Surrounded: If you plan supper for 6 o'clock, say to the visiting youngsters (at about 5:30) "Your mother will be expecting you home soon. You'd better leave now so she won't worry." Then politely usher them to the door.

There will be no hurt feelings and after it's happened a few times the children will learn to go home without prompting.

Teen-Age Romance

Dear Ann: I'm 18 and in love with a boy who is also 18. I was graduated from high school last June. For reasons I won't go into, Boris won't be graduated until June 1963.

Last Christmas he gave me an engagement ring. When my folks saw it they asked me when we planned to be married. I told them in about six or eight years. They raised Cain and made me give the ring back.

I have a good job and am saving money toward our marriage. Boris has a part-time job and he bought himself a car to run around in.

My main complaint is that he never cared much about going to church before he met me, and he drinks a little too much. With my help he is showing signs of reforming. I love him and think we could be happy. Do you? —DON'T KNOW.

Dear Little Girl: What you "Don't Know" would fill several large volumes. I'll just hit the high spots:

1. An 18-year-old girl who ties herself up for six or eight years has rocks in her head.

2. A high school kid who "doesn't care much about church" and "drinks a little too much" sounds like bad news.

3. A girl who saves money toward marriage while her boy friend buys himself a car "to run around in" is a fool. She usually winds up supporting both herself and her husband while he blows his salary on extras.

You need this infant like a moose needs a hat rack. Forget him.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Q—For several weeks, I have been using a new tooth paste intended for relief of sensitive teeth. About a week ago my teeth began turning black and my mouth became roughened and sore. Could this be due to the new tooth paste? Or am I developing a vitamin deficiency?

A—If the new dentifrice contains sodium perborate, your complaints may be due to the presence of this ingredient.

Q—I recently had a six-hour glucose tolerance test. From a fasting level of 105 mg., the content of my blood rose to 155 in an hour and then fell to 75 after five hours. Could I have hypoglycemia or hypoadrenalism because the fall is so great? I was told it should only be 300 mg. As I have an anxiety neurosis with palpitations, dizziness and easy fatigue, I was wondering if I might improve if I went on a high protein diet and cut out sweets.

A—These findings are within normal limits. May I suggest that medically you are out beyond your depths. Why don't you concentrate on efforts to control your anxieties and let your doctor handle technical matters?

Q—I am engaged to a man who became a drug addict when he was in his teens and got into bad company. He is just finishing a cure and wants to be married as soon as he is discharged from the hospital. He is sure that if he has a home and a wife, he will be O.K. I want to help him because I love him very much. But my parents say I'm just "asking for trouble." What do you think?

A—Rather than presume to advise you, let me give you the facts as I know them. In a follow-up study of 1,912 addicts living in New York City, who had been cared for at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in Lexington, Ky., over 90 per cent became re-addicted, usually within six months after leaving the hospital. Mrs. Larry Lee Snyder

Janice McCullough Wed To Larry Lee Snyder

Rogers Lakemont Church of Christ was the locale Saturday at 2:30 p.m. of the wedding of Miss Janice McCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McCullough of RD 2, Salem, to Larry Lee Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Snyder of RD 3, Salem.

Rev. Eugene Marvin heard the exchange of vows at the double ring ceremony before an altar graced with ferns and palms, with altar vases filled with white gladioli, carnations and pompons and lighted with cathedral candles.

Mrs. Raymond Crosser was soloist, and Miss Sue Pike presided at the organ.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a princess styled gown of silk organza over bridal satin with designs of pearls and sequins outlining the scooped neckline and short sleeves. Self roses were caught here and there in the full bouffant skirt and chapel train. Her finger-tip length veil of silk illusion fell from a forward crown of pearlized orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, feathered carnations and stephanotis with streamers tied in lover's knots.

Miss Audrey Ekey was maid of honor for her cousin, and Miss Joyce Wells, another cousin, was bridesmaid. They wore street-length silk organza over taffeta dresses with scooped necklines and fitted bodices. Unpressed pleats fashioned the skirts with back panel falling from a shoulder bow. Miss Ekey's gown was shrimp colored and Miss Wells', Nile green. Flutter veils graced their matching circlet hats and they carried cascade bouquets of feathered carnations.

Deborah Cosma was flower girl in white organza over satin, with lace jacket.

Best man was Nick Cosma Jr., and Robert McCullough, brother of the bride, and Gary Lindsmith ushered.

Miss Betty Loudon registered the 150 guests who greeted the bridal couple at the reception in the church social rooms following the ceremony.

The bride's table was laid with white linen cloth with overskirt of net and centered with a three-tier cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and trimmed with yellow roses encircled with ivy. The effect was lighted with tapers in crystal candelabra. Mrs. Harry Ekey of East Springfield, Mrs. Albert Timmerman of Lisbon, Mrs. Allan Wells of Mingo Junction, Mrs. Clyde Bates of Winterville, Mrs. Cecil Owens Sr. and Mrs. Ernest Gardner of Brilliant served.

The bride, a graduate of United High School, is secretary at the school.

A graduate of United High School, Mr. Snyder is sales representative for Singer Sewing Machine Co. at Canton.

For a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a two-piece lavender dress with beige accessories, a yellow rose corsage, and a string of pearls, the latter a gift from the bridegroom.

The couple will reside at Hanoverton. Mr. and Mrs. Elba Snyder, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts at the rehearsal party June 21 in the social rooms of Winona Methodist Church.

Senator Goldwater 'Hot' About Nesting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Excuse the cliches but the pigeons came home to roost on the air conditioner and the family of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has, er, been perspiring it out ever since.

On a hot day last May 15, Goldwater started to turn on the air conditioner at the family apartment. He discovered that a pair of pigeons had built a nest on it and mamma was busy warming the eggs she had laid.

Unwilling to disturb this domestic arrangement, the Goldwaters have not used the air conditioner since, despite Washington's sometimes sweltering weather.

But the senator and his family are hoping that the young pigeons, now nearly as big as their parents, will quit the nest soon. After all, July is just around the corner.

Charge Linked Him to Red Conspiracy

Ex-Disc Jockey Is Awarded $3.5 Million Libel Damages

NEW YORK (AP) — Former disc jockey John Henry Faulk was awarded $3.5 million libel damages Thursday night on his charge that linking him to a Communist conspiracy destroyed his broadcasting career.

After deliberating four hours after an 11-week trial the jury, by an 11 to 1 vote, found for Faulk against the publication Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, one of its directors; and the late Laurence A. Johnson, operator of a chain of supermarkets in Syracuse, N.Y.

Johnson, excused from attending the trial because of ill health, died Wednesday in a Bronx motel.

Probation Hearing Continued by Judge

LISBON—A hearing for probation was continued Thursday for Daniel Matthews, 19, of 219 E. Main St., East Palestine, who pleaded guilty to passing a fraudulent $25 check Nov. 14 at Loblaw's Market in East Liverpool.

Judge Joel H. Sharp continued the hearing after Matthews' parents requested permission to send him to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown for a psychiatric examination and report. Bond of $1,500 was set, and Matthews was released to make application for entrance at the hospital.

Judge Sharp said he would rule on his request for probation after he received the report from the hospital.

McElroy Issues Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A person who has moved from another county to Columbus to perform state employment may retain his original residence for voting purposes, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy ruled today.

In the decision to the Putnam County prosecuting attorney, McElroy added that the person may also be appointed a county central committee member and chairman of the county executive committee of his party in the county from which he moved.

'OHIO DAY' AT FAIR

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohioans who happen to be in Seattle Saturday can expect some special consideration. Saturday will be "Ohio Day" at the World's Fair. The Buckeye State will be represented by General Manager Rowland Bishop of the Ohio Expositions Commission and Ralph Cobey, a commission member.

The panel of eight men and four women awarded Faulk a total of $1 million compensatory damages divided among all three defendants and punitive damages of $1.25 million each from Aware and Hartnett. The judge had ruled that no punitive damages could be collected from Johnson's estate.

Faulk's counsel had asked an award of $4 million.

Defense attorneys said they definitely will appeal.

The verdict was handed down on the Faulks' 14th wedding anniversary, prompting Mrs. Faulk to say: "It's the nicest present I could have got."

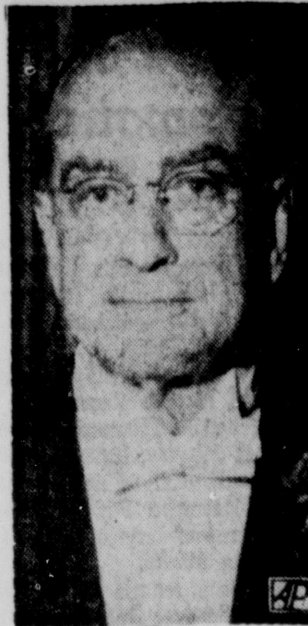

During the trial, Faulk was described as the third or fourth leading disc jockey in the New York area. He conducted programs on radio and television for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Aware was incorporated in 1953 with the avowed aim of "combating the communist conspiracy in entertainment communications."

Faulk charged that a bulletin of Aware, published Feb. 10, 1956, falsely accused him of pro-Communist sympathies. He said Hartnett prepared the material and Johnson was instrumental in distributing it to broadcasting and advertising executives.

Testifying for Faulk, many persons in the entertainment world detailed at pattern of blacklisting in the industry during the 1950's.

Until Thursday the jury was unaware of the death of Johnson, 73, whose pajama clad body was found in bed. Positive identification was made by his son-in-law, Donald J. Giancola of Syracuse. A medical examiner said the body bore no marks of violence. Johnson had a history of a heart ailment.

NEW A.M.A. PRESIDENT — Dr. George M. Fister (above) of Ogden, Utah, became the new president of the American Medical Association at its convention in Chicago. Dr. Fister succeeds Dr. Leonard W. Larson of Bismarck, N.D.

IBOP-To Choose Wage Policy Group

Looking ahead to expiration of its present two-year contract with dinnerware manufacturers Dec. 1, the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters said today a wage policy committee and a conference committee will be elected during August.

The current contract was signed Dec. 1, 1960, in Cleveland, granting a package estimated at over 8 cents an hour to 4,900 employees of nine plants in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. It contained a provision for a three-cent hourly boost that took effect Dec. 1, 1961.

The Salem China Co. is one of the firms whose employees are covered by the pact between the IBOP and the U. S. Potters Association, which represents management.

North Lima Man Sent To Reformatory

LISBON—A North Lima man on probation was sentenced to the Ohio State Reformatory and another was given a warning Thursday in Common Pleas Court.

Judge Joel H. Sharp terminated the probation of Norman R. McLaughlin, 20, and sentenced him to 1-15 years in the reformatory on a Sept. 15, 1960 charge of burglarizing the John Falkner garage at RD 1, Rogers.

McLaughlin violated terms of his probation by failing to pay court costs and make restitution, failing to provide for his child and failure to obey traffic laws, Judge Sharp said.

Arlan L. Bailey, 21, of East Liverpool, arrested for the theft of an auto from Ray Randolph of Salineville Aug. 24, 1959, was warned by the judge who continued his probation. Bailey appeared in court yesterday on a charge of driving without a license filed by the Wellsville police. He told the judge he merely allowed a car to drift out of a driveway and across a street where he parked it. He said he didn't start the motor.

COLUMBIANA — Funeral services will be held in the Columbian Cemetery chapel Sunday at 2:30 p.m. for Loren C. Brown, 64, of Anderson, Ind., formerly of East Palestine, who died Thursday at Anderson.

Survivors include his wife, the former Hazel Unger of Columbian.

Drought

give a good soaking to lawns once a week, rather than sprinkling light and often. "Sprinkling a little over the grass every night is worse than not watering at all," he warned.

Trees, despite their deep roots, are also taking a beating from the intense heat and aridness, coupled with hot, monsoon-like winds. Leaves on some trees are showing the typical scorch symptoms, a browning of the edges.

Surprisingly, neither agent has had a report of wells drying up although in similar periods country residents with dug wells usually run into trouble with their water supply.

Crops Present Paradox

Farm and garden crops present a paradox. Oats, for example, should be worse off than they appear. This grain is a notorious cool-weather lover. Yet the ripening crop has a good appearance and prospects are for a good yield, although many farmers believe the grains may not plump out. Fred Wagmiller of RD 1 found this to be true in his barley that he harvested last weekend. While he harvested 50 bushels to the acre, a fair yield for barley, many grains were shriveled and light.

Some growers such as Paul Barnett of North Georgetown report their oats and wheat are two weeks or more ahead of schedule. Barnett's opinion is that the grain is maturing faster chiefly because of lack of water.

The paradox extends to other farm fronts. Some farmers complain about the dryness while standing in the best fields of corn they ever grew. Outside the need for water, the weather is ideal for this grain which in some cases was more than knee-high two weeks before July 4.

A few corn growers report the leaves show severe wilting in the afternoon but the plants recover overnight. Corn producers who seeded early are in better shape to stand the drought than those who seeded late.

Sweet corn on the other hand is not faring so well as the field varieties, as Paul Solomon of near Winona, will attest. A commercial grower, Solomon said his crop is suffering drastically at this crucial stage.

Other evidence of the drought has been reported by Wayne Rupert, a New Waterford nurseryman. He said no water has been coming through his tile for five weeks, although it is usually flowing well until mid-June.

And the Dunn Excavating Co. on the Washingtonville Rd., which digs farm ponds, says the moisture level is easily four feet below normal, depending upon the lay of the land, but indicating the extent of the drought in the subsoil. Naturally, the hardpan makes excavating jobs extremely difficult and fuel-consuming.

The hot, dry spell has stimulated an unusual amount of insect activity such as leafhoppers in hayfields. The life cycle was speeded up causing early emergence of some types of bugs. June beetles became May beetles, and even when plants were very young.

The heat was expected to bring the hated Japanese beetle ahead of schedule, but few have been seen. Some have been reported near New Waterford, a forerunner of the wave to come against roses, grapes and other plants.

Growers who have irrigation are putting it to maximum use this season. A. A. Less, Washingtonville fruit grower, is irrigating grapes, only the second time in 20 years of fruit growing. Apples and peaches seem to be growing well and Henry Shively, big Berlin Township black cherry grower, reports the fruits are normal in size and production. Robert Christen of North Georgetown has also been forced to irrigate his commercial potato fields.

Phillips says that growers are expecting a mighty storm when the rains do hit, but fingers are crossed in hope that it won't bring hail. Earlier hail ruined apples near Columbian.

Shuffle In Diplomatic Corps Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Authoritative sources report a diplomatic shuffle in the works. Two likely results: new U.S. ambassadors in Moscow and Paris.

Here's how the realignment is expected to take place: Llewellyn E. Thompson, ambassador to Moscow, leaves his post toward the end of next month. His replacement: Foy D. Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

Thompson returns to Washington, taking over from Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as special assistant to the secretary for Soviet affairs. Bohlen, in turn, goes to Paris, replacing James M. Gavin as ambassador.

There has been no decision on a replacement for Kohler as head of the Bureau of European Affairs or on what will happen to Gavin, a retired lieutenant general in his first diplomatic post.

The changes reportedly are subject to approval by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who returned Thursday night after a 10-day tour of Western Europe.

Bohlen and Thompson are career ambassadors, the highest rank in the foreign service. Kohler is in charge of the department's task force on Berlin and chairman of the ambassadorial steering group discussing Allied policy on the divided German city.

lapsed in scandals. The subcommittee seeks to determine whether political influence deals, possibly involving persons high on the Washington scene, were involved.

Freeman told the subcommittee, "No official or employee now in the employ of the department is known or can reasonably be believed to have improperly accepted gifts or other favors from Estes; Estes received no special benefits as a result of favored treatment. The government has lost no money through its business with Estes."

He said the wrongdoers involved with Estes were found to be few and were fired, suspended or otherwise dealt with as fast as they were caught.

McClellan told Freeman at the end of the day:

"We shall try to find out any others in the department that are not loyal, that are careless, and if we do we're going to expose them. That will be help to you."

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., told reporters Freeman still has a lot of questions to answer in what Mundt called a topsy turvy but agreeable procedure of "hearing the defense first, and the accusers later."

Stepanic's Edge 'AA' Stars 4-2 On McNeely's Homer

'A' All-Stars Nip Odom's Sohio 4-2

Carson McNeely clouted a two-run homer in the fourth inning to give Stepanic's Tavern a 4-2 victory over the Class AA All-Stars while the Class A All-Stars trimmed Odom's Sohio by the identical score of 4-2 in the annual All-Star games played at Kelley Park Thursday before some 200 spectators.

In the third encounter of the evening the state champion Wooster Lumber girls defeated the Hubbard All-Star girls by the score of 7-2.

ODOM'S MOVED TO a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Ronnie Schaffer walked, moved to third on a stolen base and was brought home on Dick Good's single that went between third and short.

The All-Stars got moving in the third canto when Lefty Schmid and Chuck Wilson reached base on errors and Chuck Henderson sent them home with two runs on a long single to right field.

The Class A league-leaders tied the count in the last half of the third when Jeffries walked, took second on a force play and came home with the tying tally on Tom Ehrhart's double.

Gene Stallsmith put the All-Stars into the lead to stay in the fourth canto with a long triple that bounced off the left field fence and he was able to make it home with the help of an error to give the Stars a 3-2 margin and they were never headed.

A single by John Chaffin, an error and a sacrifice fly by Larry Ingledue chalked up the All-Stars' final tally in the fifth frame.

CHAFFIN AND HENDERSON paced the All-Stars' attack with two hits each. Dick Good led the way for Odom's with two safeties.

Stepanic's caught the Class AA All-Stars in the first frame off guard as the league-leaders put together singles by Bill Ferguson, Dave Drakulich and Jim Stone-metz to take a 2-0 lead.

The All-Stars came back with a tally in the top of the second on a leadoff double by Casey Lease and another two-bagger by Dick Wyss bringing Lease across the saucer with the tally.

Jim Harrigan brought the All-

Stars even with Stepanic's in the fourth stanza with a triple, that was stretched into a homer because of an error.

In the last half of the fourth canto the Stepanic's nine forged into the lead and the victory when Stonemetz singled and McNeely rapped his two-run blast to break the deadlock.

STONEMETZ FEATURED for the winners as he racked up two hits and was credited with being the winning hurler.

Five different players collected a single apiece for the All-Stars. Glen Mercer suffered the loss for the losers.

In the girls' encounter the Wooster aggregation had to come from behind after Hubbard jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first frame. Wooster bunched together three singles and three walks to chalk up three runs in the third inning and then pushed four more runs across the plate on a homer, two doubles and two singles in the fourth stanza to grab the win.

Salem's Janet Reeder socked a double for the Wooster nine.

100-Lap Championship Race Lures Aop Pilots to Canfield

The 100-lap late model midseason championship stock car race at Canfield Speedway Saturday is luring the top stars in the Ohio-Pennsylvania areas.

Dick Arnold will be in from Painesville, Salem's hopes will be carried by Dick Shasteen. The Warren lineup includes Gus Iacozilli, George Hegedus and Chuck Dorsey. Nook Walters will tow in his 1957 Chevrolet from Niles, while entered from Girard are Don Sawyer, one of the top favorites, and Corky Whorley. Ron Cochran, always a threat, will be in from Sharon, along with Bob Krauss and Gene Simpson.

Mineral Ridge will be represented by Junior Postlewait and MARC's 1962 point leader and Canfield's winningest driver, Jim Bickerstaff. Jim will be hoping to pad his point lead, but in this class field, he will find his roughest competition of the year.

Palmer, Nicklaus Fall Behind Hawkins In Western Open

By JERRY LISKA Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP)—Arnold Palmer's putter was sour, U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus was two strokes off the pace and the $50,000 Western Open golf tournament entered today's second round plainly anybody's party.

The one-stroke leader after Medinah Country Club's "Big Bear" No. 3 course Thursday shook up golf's top players was Fred Hawkins who moved ahead with a 3-under-par 68.

Hawkins, whose only PGA triumph in 16 years on the cash-and-carry trail was a 1956 victory in the Oklahoma City Open, was one of only six players among 135 starters to crack Medinah's par 71.

A stroke behind Hawkins, 38, from El Paso, Tex., was a trio of 69 shooters Jack Cupit, Charles Sifford and Paul Harney while Nicklaus and Moon Mullins were the only other sub-par shooters with 70's.

Palmer, who labored on the putting practice green hours after he turned in a 73 in a horrible finish, seemed in a daze over his failure on the greens dating from the U.S. Open two weeks ago. Palmer bogeyed the par three 17th and doubled-bogeyed the par four 18th. "I putted worse here than at Oakmont. I can't even get near the cup anymore," said Palmer, a three-stroke victim in the National Open playoff with Nicklaus. "It's awfully frustrating. I'd rather have shot an 80 than the way I played the first round here."

Three strokes behind Hawkins at even par 71 were six players, including Sammy Snead, Randy Glover, Dow Finsterwald, Al Giebergers, Ken Still and Bob Brue. Deadlocked at 72 were no fewer than 11 players, including South African Gary Player.

Jessen Holds Record-Tying Lead In Women's Golf Match

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) Ruth Jessen, who majored in journalism at Seattle University, made a bit of news herself as she carried a record-equalling first round lead into today's second round of the 10th U.S. Golf Association Women's Open Tournament.

The trim blonde from Seattle, Wash., a professional for six years despite her youthful 25, was the only player in the field of 68 to match par 72.

That gave her a three-stroke lead over Mickey Wright, the defending champion and three-time winner in the last four years. Mickey's 75 tied her for runner-up honors with Joann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Jessen's 36-36 equalled the largest first-round lead in the 10-year history of the tourney under USGA sponsorship. Back in 1953, Patty Berg led by three shots after the first round at Rochester, N.Y., but went on to finish third.

Ruth was the only player to negotiate a par on either nine of the course, which is playing exceptionally long after recent rains.

All-America Grid Stars Vie Tonight

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Football in June? That's right. Tonight is the night of the second All-America game between the stars of the East and West at War Memorial Stadium.

About 22,000 fans are expected to turn out to see the pro-bound collegians of '61 do their stuff. All but two of the 61 players are signed to professional contracts.

Twenty-eight will play in the National Football League, 18 in the American League and 12 in Canada. The other two are Greg Mather of Navy and Al Rushatz of Army, who will be otherwise occupied.

The proceedings will be carried on network (NBC) television with the kickoff slated for 9:30 p.m. Salem time, with the Buffalo area blacked out. A hot, humid night is forecast.

Many of the top college coaches and most of the American Football League brass has turned out for the game, which is co-sponsored by: The American Football Coaches Association, the Buffalo Evening News and the Buffalo Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Coach Woody Hayes (Ohio State) has an explosive backfield on his Eastern team, with Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, 6-foot-4, 228-pound quarterback at the controls. Ernie Davis, flashy Syracuse back and Heisman Trophy winner and Notre Dame's Angelo Dabiero will be the halfbacks with Ohio State's Bob Ferguson, 6-foot, 220 pounds at fullback.

The Western team, with Murray Warmath (Minnesota) as the head coach, will present a solid line, anchored by the two huge Utah State tackles, 6-5, 275-pound Merlin Olsen and 6-5 250-pound Bud Miller.

Sandy Stephens, Warmath's great quarterback at Minnesota, who is going to play his pro ball in Canada, will start for the West. Jim Saxton of Texas and Bobby Lee Thompson of Arizona will be at the halfbacks. Art Perkins of North Texas State will be the fullback.

The teams will play college rules, 1962 version, with two wild cards substitutes permitted after each play. Although some players will double up on offense and defense, especially the West squad, the East will try to play a separate defensive unit if possible.

Angels, Orioles, Athletics Also Victors

Yanks Trim Twins 4-2, Move Into 2nd

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
When it comes to cutting the bad guys off at the pass, the New York Yankees call on Marshall (The Sheriff) Bridges, one of the fastest guns in the American League.

He halted another uprising Thursday as the Yankees beat Minnesota 4-2 and leap-frogged into second place. The left-handed fireballer came in with the bases filled and two runs across in the eighth inning, fanned Don Mincher for the third out, the held the Twins in the ninth.

It was the 22nd appearance of the season for Bridges, 31, a short-stint specialist who has been a valuable replacement for the injured southpaw relief star, Luis Arroyo. Bridges' latest performance saved a victory for Bill Stafford, who was supported by homer help from Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

By winning, the Yankees took over the runnerup spot in a virtual deadlock with Minnesota and Los Angeles—all 1½ games behind Cleveland. New York has a three-percentage-point edge on the Angels, who in turn are three points ahead of the Twins.

The Angels bombed Boston 19-7, Baltimore completed a three-game sweep of Chicago on Steve Barber's shutout pitching, 6-0, and Kansas City outscored Washington 10-7 in other AL action. Cleveland and Detroit had the day off.

Maris and Mantle homered in the fourth and the Yankees made it 3-2 against loser Jack Kralick in the seventh when Elston Howard doubled and eventually scored on an error.

The Angels sprayed 18 hits and collected 13 walks against five Red Sox pitchers. Los Angeles had a pair of five-run innings, in the fourth and seventh. Winning pitcher Eli Grba got two hits and four runs batted in. The loss went to 1961 rookie of the year, Don Schwall, whose record now is 2-9.

Barber gave up eight hits and seven walks in Baltimore's shut-out over the White Sox. Brooks Robinson sent the Orioles ahead with a first inning homer off Don Zanni and singled in another run in the third.

Manny Jimenez, the AL's top batter, teamed with the recently-acquired Billy Consolo to pace the Athletics in the hitting mach at Washington. Jimenez increased his average to .351 with a double and two singles, while Consolo had three hits. All told, Kansas City collected 18 hits. The Senators had 13 in losing their fourth in a row. Jerry Walker was the winning pitcher and Don Rudolph the loser.

Dodgers Edge Mets, Regain NL Lead

Phillies Post 7-2 Win Over San Francisco

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The 3,000-mile trip from Los Angeles to Philadelphia has put Don Demeter on the road to success. And, at the moment, the Dodgers couldn't be happier over the long ride that changed the promising outfielder from an expendable to an untouchable.

The 27-year-old right-handed swinger gave his former Dodger mates an assist Thursday, powering two homers as the Phillies whipped San Francisco 7-2 and gave Los Angeles an opportunity to regain first place in the National League.

It took the Dodgers 13 innings and 4 hours and 9 minutes to grab the chance, finally subduing the stubborn New York Mets 5-4 when Frank Howard doubled Jim Gilliam home with the winning run. That gave the Dodgers a half-game edge over the runner-up Giants.

The Dodgers sent Demeter to Philadelphia last year for pitcher Dick Farrell and infielder Joe Koppebooth no longer with the Dodgers. Demeter, meanwhile, has become the Phils' top power producer.

He got the Phils started against the Giants with a second inning homer, then hit a two-run shot in the seventh that snapped a 2-2 tie and ended San Francisco's five-game victory string.

Besides the games involving the leaders, only one other was scheduled in the NL. The Chicago Cubs knocked off fourth-place St. Louis 7-2.

Bob Wine and Clay Dalrymple also homered for the Phils. Jim Owens started for the Phillies, but left in the second when a double by Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou's punt single, a walk, Jim Davenport's ground out and Jose Pagan's infield single scored the Giants' runs. Rookie Billy Smith (1-1) took over and allowed only six hits the rest of the way. Juan Marichal (11-5) was the loser.

The winner came across for the Dodgers when Gilliam opened with a walk off Ken MacKenzie (2-3), moved to second as Willie Davis grounded out and raced home on Howard's hit. That gave the victory to Ed Roebuck (5-0), who allowed the Mets only two hits for 5-13 innings. The Dodgers had tied it in the eighth on Maury Wills' triple and a single by Gilliam after the New Yorkers had pulled ahead in the top of the inning when Gene Woodling scored one run with a sacrifice fly and pinch hitter Rod Kanehl knocked in two with a bases-loaded single.

Cal Kooce (6-2), a 21-year-old rookie, scattered 10 St. Louis hits. A first inning run-producing triple by Billy Williams and Ernie Banks' two-run double in the third put it away early against the Cardinals and Bob Gibson (9-6).

Columbiana Legion Belts Clarkson 9-3

Columbiana's American Legion baseball team tuned up for its showdown battle with Massillon Sunday by clobbering Clarkson 9-3 in a non-league game last night on the winner's diamond.

Jim Ward, Jim Allen and Dale Murphy paced the Columbiana attack with two hits apiece. Gary Norton, Ray Brown and Ken Gallagher shared the pitching chores for the Clips, limiting Clarkson to a total of just two hits.

Columbiana and Massillon, who are on top of the American Legion 10th District American League standings with 3-0 records, will clash at 4 p.m. Sunday at the Firestone Park diamond. Earlier that afternoon, the Massillon squad will play at Salem's Centennial Park against the Aldom's Diner team in a league contest scheduled for 2 p.m.

The Salem team is the only outfit to defeat Columbiana in 12 games this season and that was in an exhibition tilt. Salem won its first league contest earlier this week against Leetonia.

Summer Basketball Starts Tuesday

Summer basketball league action will get underway Tuesday evening at the Centennial Park court with all of the eight teams scheduled to play.

The Cagers battle Ken's Krunchers in the opener at 6 p.m. followed by a clash between Tom's Sunoco and Butler's Brats at 7 p.m. Spack's Specs and Shaffer's vie at 8 p.m. with Gord's Bearcats and Bosdick's Bombers playing the nightcap at 9 p.m.

MICKEY COCHRANE DIES

DETROIT (AP) — Gordon Stanley (Mickey) Cochrane, 59, rated by many as the greatest catcher in baseball history, died here on Thursday after a long illness with a blood disease. The hall of famer was the backstop on Connie Mack's great Philadelphia Athletics teams of 1929-30-31 and later on with the Detroit Tigers.

School Head Blasts Pro Team Scouts

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The faculty athletic moderator of the University of Santa Clara, a baseball powerhouse which has lost one star to the majors and may soon lose another, blasted "ruthless, persistent" big league scouts today in a letter to Commissioner Ford Frick.

The letter from the Rev. James E. Sweeters, appearing in today's San Jose Mercury, attacked men who "promise the almighty dollar, glory, security, the moon" and who "are willing and eager to do anything to have college students sign on the dotted line."

Father Sweeters obviously was angered by Houston's recent signing of shortstop Ernie Fazio for a reported $100,000. Fazio had another year of eligibility for the Broncos, who finished second in the recent NCAA College World Series.

Santa Clara also is threatened with the loss of sophomore right-handed pitcher Bob Garibaldi, called the nation's most sought-after college ball player.

Father Sweeters' letter to Frick read in part:

"The scouts, for the most part, are ruthless, persistent competitors whose conversation is equally divided between sweet talk and small talk which is in the final analysis nothing more than double talk."

"They badger the boys, pester them, upset their home life, their emotional stability, their families; and their trade mark is pressure, pressure, pressure."

Gun Season on Deer Listed

Changes In Game Regulations Made

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Permission to shoot hen pheasants in the southern area of the state, a two-day gun season on deer and a reduced minimum acreage for leased quail lands are the highlights of the 1962-63 Ohio hunting and trapping regulations announced Thursday.

Other changes in past regulations included no closed season on skunks and the addition of two counties to the areas where beaver may be trapped.

All of these came out of the Ohio Wildlife Council's annual public hearing with representatives of farm and sportsmen groups held here Thursday.

Water fowl regulations will be set by the state and federal governments late in the summer. Any changes in the fishing laws will not be announced until later because the current season does not end until Feb. 28, 1963.

The 1962 - 63 regulations (all times are Eastern Standard):
SQUIRREL — Seasons open Sept. 14, closing Oct. 27 in the north and Nov. 10 in the south. Hunting hours: daylight to dark. Bag limit: four. Possession limit: after the first day, eight.

The line separating the two hunting areas begins in the east at East Liverpool, follows U. S. 30 to Canton, U. S. 62 to Millersburg, Ohio 39 to Mansfield, Ohio 13 to Somerset (Perry County), U. S. 22 to Ohio 159 in Fairfield County, Ohio 159 to U. S. 23 in Ross County, U. S. 23 to Chillicothe; U. S. 50 to Ohio 28; Ohio 28 to Midland, U. S. 68 to Ripley on the Ohio River.

RUFFED GROUSE — Oct. 15-Feb. 23. Hours: daylight to dark. Bag: three. Possession: six.

DEER — Shotgun loaded with rifled slug; Dec. 13-14 (Thursday and Friday). Archery: Oct. 15-Dec. 31. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during gun season and daylight to dark for archery except during gun season. Bag: one of either sex and any age. A new feature requires that all deer must be taken to a division of Wildlife operated checking station to be tagged by 10 p.m. on the last day of gun season or within 24 hours of being killed with a bow.

RINGED - NECK PHEASANT PARTRIDGES & CHUKARS — Nov. 15 - Dec. 15 on private lands, through Jan. 31 on public lands. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Bags: two. Possession: four for each species.

A special ringed-neck season was established for the non-ringed necked area of the state — where the birds normally do not live or breed but must be stocked. In this area either cocks or hens may be taken from Nov. 15 through Jan. 31 with the same bag and possession limit as for the regular season.

The non-ringed neck pheasant area lies south of a line from Steubenville along — S. 22 to Zanesville, Ohio 75 to McArthur, U. S. 50 to Ohio 251, to Ohio 123; to Ohio 122, to Ohio 725, to the Indiana line.

QUAIL — Nov. 15 through Dec. 15 on state owned or controlled land and on special public lands through Jan. 14. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. bag: Six. Possession: 12. The council reduced the minimum size for leased quail lands from 500 to 250 acres.

COTTON TAIL RABBITS — Nov. 15 through Jan. 31. Hours: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Bag: four. Possession: eight.

RACCOONS & OPOSSUM (Hunting and Trapping) — Nov. 5 through Feb. 15 (two weeks less than last year). Hunting hours: 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. Hunting bag limit: four per day. There is no hour or bag limits for trappers.

MUSKRATS & MINKS (Hunting or Trapping) — Nov. 15 through Feb. 28. No hour or bag limits.

BEAVERS (Trapping only) — Legal in seven counties, two more than last year, Feb. 15 through 28. Trappers must have a permission affidavit and pelts must be sealed before March 15. Each trapper limited to two beavers per season. Counties in which trapping is permitted are: Ash-tabula, Trumbull, Mahoning, Columbiana, Portage, Carroll and Williams. Non-resident beaver trapping will be limited to residents of states which permit Ohio residents to trap beavers.

Two singles by Bill Smith in the second stanza along with five walks sparked the Italian Club rally.

Both clubs ended the seventh canto all tied up at 13-13 but the K of C outscored the Italian Club 6-4 in the extra frame.

Triples by Hunston and Ricky Berg coupled with singles by Cleckner, Carl Kaiser and Wayne Snyder brought the K of C its victory.

MARTHA WAYNE

A word from
THERON at the Old Country Store

A lady pulled into a gas station the other day. She told the attendant to put in $5.00 worth of gas. He could get only $4.60 worth in. She said run the rest on the ground she wanted stamps for $5.00. He finally ended up putting the rest in a can for his old car. She got the penny's worth of stamps which cost her poor husband 40c.

Is your wife nuts about trading stamps?
